

Simon Koopmann

Co-Founder and CEO, envelio

Dr. Simon Koopmann is Co-founder and CEO of envelio. envelio is a spin-off from RWTH Aachen University and provides a smart grids software platform for grid operators based on innovative optimization and machine learning algorithms. With its solution, envelio supports the next phase of the energy transition by digitalizing processes with the latest research results.

Dr. Koopmann previously received his diploma and PhD degree from RWTH Aachen, where he was also Head of the Distributed Energy Systems research group.

2 October 2018, Berlin
#PowerOfDigital

More Information and Tickets